R. 11112, a Bill to Erect a Memorial on the Gettysburg Battle Field to Commemorate the Fiftieth Anniversary of That Battle, February 18, 1914 I shall not take much of the time of the committee this morning with any statement of my own as there are gentlemen here present who can more fittingly and properly express the sentiment that actuated them and me in proposing this memorial. However, I want to preface what they shall say by this statement. I appreciate how Congress has been asked in the past to make many appropriations for many individuals, who, in the opinion of the movers of those appropriations, were worthy of being remembered by statutes, and history with its ironies has frequently shown that the only virtue that those statutes had was to commemorate the zeal of particular men rather than the services of the individuals for whom they were erected. We do not come, however, in this instance asking a statue to a man; but we do believe that it is proper that what is unique among the people of the world should be commemorated, and that is not the Civil War, great and momentous as it was, but the peace that followed after that war within the lifetime of the participants in the war; a peace that has been peculiar to our country and is the greatest tribute to her institutions of all the things that have occurred in her history. It took England more than 200 years to get over her civil wars. We at...
