Excerpt from The Cincinnati Medical News, Vol. 12: June, 1879; Vol. 8, New Series Typhoid fever is usually ushered in with rigors, chilliness, or diarrhea. Now and then it may be ushered in somewhat suddenly, but generally it comes on insidiously, so much so sometimes that the patient has difficulty in stating just on what day his illness began. In numbers of cases there will be felt, for some days. Only a feeling of malaise, attended with a feeling of weariness in the limbs, and a disposition to be on the feet as little as possible. The appetite is poor or fails altogether. In other cases the patient suffers from irregular chills and flushes of heat. The pulse is increased in frequency, the limbs ache, there is headache, redness or coating of the tongue. During the day there will be, perhaps, a tendency to drowsiness, and at night to wakefulness, restlessness, and dreaming. With the other symptoms there are usually associated, or very soon follow, and generally form the most striking phenomena of the early...
