( See Figure 6. ) Denmark has less than 10 MW of hydropower capacity, so the remaining 17 percent is from other renewable energy sources, 70 primarily wind. Denmark began pursuing renewables as a source of energy in the mid-1970s as a response to high prices for oil imports. The program began with funding for research and development, but turned more toward developing the industry when, in 1979, the government began offering an investment subsidy for up to...
