Skira, 2017. Condition: new. Introduction by Luca Molinari. English Text. Milano, 2017; paperback, pp. 336, 330 col. ill., cm 21,5x28. (Monografie). This publication gathers and presents the most important designs-both in Italy and abroad-that have characterized fifteen years of activity by the international architecture studio, Mario Cucinella Architects. From the Arpae in Ferrara to the San Berillo in Catania, from interventions in China, Ghana, Algeria and Palestine to the five worksites in Milan destined to transform the city's skyline: the UnipolSai main headquarters near Porta Nuova, the Città della Salute e della Ricerca at Sesto San Giovanni, the new COIMA headquarters at Porta Nuova; the design for the Nuovo Polo Chirurgico e delle Urgenze for the Ospedale San Raffaele; the Fondazione Rovati Museum on Corso Venezia. Mario Cucinella, who has won many international awards for his designs, is currently one of Europe's most important architects. An unchallenged leader and advocate of sustainability in all his works, from private housing to city master plans, his projects are also celebrated for the excellent designing. The impact and value, from both a social and environmental perspective, of his career also as a professor along with his social activism have been praised around the globe, most recently by the Royal Institute of British Architects (RIBA) which awarded him the prestigious International Fellowship for 2016. The winner of numerous competitions, he has conceived transformational designs regarding residential, commercial, scholastic, hospital and urban constructions not only in Italy but also in Algeria, China, Ghana, Palestine and elsewhere. In summary, Cucinella has stated this about his mission: "Conceiving sustainable buildings means coming into direct contact with a place's climate and concept. We must imagine low-visible tech buildings that allow us to make form and materials work more: these are changing and becoming main players of the result,..."
