Enter Max s world, a just turning 60 Jewish-agnostic who cannot cope with the thought of growing old. He has many questions about life but cannot seem to find the answers. His Christian wife has prayed for him for twenty-five years, hoping that one day he would finally find the Lord and place his hope in Him instead of worrying about losing his youth. Max attempts everything he able to, trying to look and feel young again. including his nightly routine of testosterone therapy, moisture creams, treatments for hair loss and daily exercise at a local gym. His life seems to be spiraling downhill until one night, he looks into his bathroom mirror and there is more there than his own reflection staring back at him. From that night forward, Max s life begins to change as the reflection in the mirror becomes a reality, one that shows-up at the most inopportune times for Max. Is Max going over the edge or has he been divinely blessed with a visitation to provide him with the path to answers about life. You just may begin to see some of your own questions about growing older in Max s humorous journey. Let s face it, we all have questions about our now and tomorrows but do you have a man who one day appears in your bathroom mirror and begins to guide you through life-changing revelations, one experience at a time? By the time you laugh, cry and even giggle through this moving and yet humorous story, you will be able to relate to Max and his family and perhaps begin looking twice in your bathroom mirror! Jay Schein is a modern,...
