Perhaps I would not do so again. Had I known what was to come I could not have done so. Nevertheless I did. After all, it was not strange. The air of the Virginia morning was SO soft and warm, the honeysuckles along the wall were so languid sweet, the bees and the holly hocks up to the walk so fat and lazy, the smell of the orchard was so rich, the south wind from the fields was SO wanton! Moreover, I was only twenty-six. AS it chanced, I was this sort of a man: thick in the arm and neck, deep through, just Short of Six feet tall, and Wide as a door, my mother said; strong as one man out of a thousand, my father said. And then - the girl was there. About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books. Find more at This book is a reproduction...
