Forgotten Books, United States, 2015. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 229 x 152 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book ***** Print on Demand *****.Excerpt from The Home and Its Relation to the World The purpose of the present little book, the first of a series of elementary school geographies, is two-fold. It undertakes in the first place to familiarize the child with his environment and to show how his life is affected by it. In the second place it takes him over the World, not a world made up of facts to be memorized, but one filled with strange and interesting people with whom he has more or less to do. It is not the purpose of the book to teach California but rather the home in California, and its relation to other homes scattered over the wide world. As a result of this method the Home is oriented and the pupil led to acquire those simple but fundamental ideas absolutely essential to the real grasp of advanced geography. The first and second books of the New Progressive Geographies emphasize Home Geography because, in the author s opinion, this is the only approach to World Geography which can give the desired results - results so generally lacking with the methods in current use. The California child who devotes the fourth and fifth years of school to the home environment and its relation to homes in other lands is equipped as no other child can be, who has never had this intensive home study, to make rapid and intelligent progress in World Geography. The teacher must bear in mind that as the book is planned for use in any part of California local conditions cannot be emphasized as they ought. Each environment has illustrative material of its own which, following the...
