Mr. Brown said: Mr. Chairman: Ever since I have been in active political life, beginning twenty years back, before the people of Pennsylvania, in her halls of legislation, and in the convention that amended her constitution, have I spoken as I speak this day, against this whole abolition agitation, here or in the free States. Since I have had the honor of a seat in this House, I have given silent votes against every proposition that has been brought into it in any way calculated to interfere with the subject of slavery, here or in the slave States, knowing that its agitation could do no good, and was doing much harm. And I would have continued the same quiet course for the brief space of time I have yet to remain here - looking to the future to approve my course, as my constituents have heretofore approved all that I have said and done upon the subject - but for the remarkable speech of the gentleman from Indiana [Mr. Thompson] - a speech which struck me, as I think it must have struck this House, with surprise and astonishment. The gentleman told us, that upon this subject he belonged to the great conservative party of the Union - the party opposed to the abolition of slavery in the District of Columbia, or in the States, or its agitation in any place where it might have the tendency to disturb the peace and harmony of the country, or endanger the perpetuity of our Union. He...
