Around the world without money nor luggage is an extraordinary adventure undertaken by Matteo Pennacchi. With the intention to make a Guinness Record, he eventually turned the idea into a social challenge made up of human and passionate experiences. A race against time, a bet with himself and away, on the road, with makeshift equipment, on trucks, trains and ships, across continents, from Moscow to Beijing to Seoul, from the States across the Ocean back to Italy. He vividly describes all the tricks to survive such an enduring challenge .magic shows on the Trans-Siberian train in exchange for food, the containers full of fruit and vegetables to soak in exchange for a passage on cargo boats, friends one makes along the way, willing to offer hospitality. The challenge to travel the world without money, only with a pouch containing passport, toothbrush, a press release of articles published before he left, and a few other items. His daily challenge was to ensure, in some way or other, food, lodging and transport. This trip, undertaken in 1998, can be considered as between the last big adventures before the globalisation of Internet tools. Matteo s book, spontaneous, funny, easy-going, is the story of an adventure that many of us would like to live. The book, originally published in Germany, Italy, France., is now finally available in English!.
