Brand New Book ***** Print on Demand *****.Excerpt from The Colonies of the World and How They Are Governed IF it be true that Culture is more to be desired than learning, that the sound mind depends upon the sound body, and that the great object of education is the formation of character, the case for directed sport is already proved. N O teacher who meets his pupils in his official capacity in the class-room only will pretend that he can ever really know or in u ence the actual character of those committed to his charge. He may inculcate a love of learning, or a taste for things beautiful, in the minds of the few; but his in uence is limited to precept, which proverbially and actually is less potent than example. A doctor will demonstrate the evil effects of some particular food or drink in arresting development or in undermining health but his soundest statistics and most correct demonstrations are constantly nullified by the concrete presentment of some veteran consumer, robust and of mighty inches. In like manner, the best advice of the schoolmaster is can celled by the idle talk of the first ignorant companion who joins the schoolboy in his frolic, or lends him his newly painted bicycle.
