Brand New Book ***** Print on Demand *****.Excerpt from The Onlooker, Vol. 2: A Literary Journal of Independent Critical Opinion on Public Affairs; June, 1922 The editor of The Onlooker must crave the indulgence of his subscribers. The whole International situation is a kaleidoscope, and it is a time for short views. A journal like The Onlooker, devoted to serious and fundamental things, must take its chances. Mere gossipy comment and a rehashing of the current news is of no great value. It is better for the thinker to take his time and patiently elaborate his thought. He may prove wrong in his conclusions, but, at any rate, he will go down in the deeper waters The utterly senseless printers strike which has already cost the Typographical Union quite a million dollars has made it exceedingly hard both for author and publisher. The Master-Printers had no option but to deny demands that could only have resulted in the public s refusal to pay preposterous charges for printing. It would seem because of the lavish expenditure of funds, as though the strike in Toronto was...
