Excerpt: .vagum, which he could not recognize as a proper subject to impart faculties unto. Thus far, Reverend Doctor, you stand before the respectable Prelate in the case of an indifferent Clergyman coming into his archdiocese, and there celebrating the Mass without having produced letters of recommendation from your Ordinary, or made any sort of application for faculties to him, who alone could grant them, and without whose approbation and consent, no Priest could without sin exercise any sacerdotal function within his jurisdiction. Because he warned you with exemplary lenity, that by so doing Col. 11. t Ibid. you incurred the censures of the Church, you inteniperately launch out into that torrent of abuse, scurrility, irrelevancy, falsehood, calumny, and irreverence, which defdes every page of Columbanus, No. V. Up to the moment of your receipt of Dr. Troy s letter to you of the 17th of July I agree with you, that in the question now before, the, -public, the public is deeply concerned; theCatholic Priesthood is universally involved. But from the unguarded moment, in which you returned the fatal and indecent answer, down to the hour, in which you signed that pitiful and disgraceful batch of evasion and equivocation profaned by the invocation of the Deity, to witness a public and solemn instrument of illusion, there occurs not a movement, an action, an effort, a sentence of your Reverence, which does not lamentably support or aggravate the charges, which I have been necessitated to...
