Excerpt from The Southern Women of the Second American Revolution: Their Trials and C., Yankee Barbarity Illustrated, Our Naval Victories and Exploits of Confederate War Steamers, Capture of Yankee Gunboats, C To whom are we indebted for our recent brilliant achievements and naval successes, but to woman. The noble action and self-sacrificing devotion of our ladies, in forwarding money and means for the construction of gunboats and battering rams wherewith to cope with an insolent and barbarian foe, is unequaled in all times past both ancient and modern. Hundreds, aye thousands, who had not the money sent forward what jewelry or silver plate they possessed as contributions. Many a birth-day present and bridal gift has been sacrificed upon the altar of liberty that urged on our men of daring to deeds of valor and renown. History does not record such unbounded and unanimously Spontaneous action of a people, Did we, indeed, lack the cavalier spirit. Of death-daring valor in our Generals, the innate heroism, fortitude and devotion of our women would, doubtless, call forth from among their own sex a leader for...
