

Perfumes of Araby: Silhouettes of Al Yemen

By Jacob, Harold

Garnet Publishing, United Kingdom, 2007. Soft cover. Condition: New. Dust Jacket Condition: New. Brand new book. Lieutenant Colonel Harold Fenton Jacob (1866-1936) was an officer in the British Army who spent the majority of his time in service in Yemen. First published in 1915, "Perfumes of Araby" is a collection of thirteen vignettes of tribal life in the first decades of the twentieth century, or as the author himself describes them, "silhouettes of Arab character, their life, thoughts, feelings and wayward moods". Topics covered by the author include Arab attitudes to alcohol, coffee and qat; family life including marriage and children; warfare; religion; folklore and superstitions; local politics; and attitudes towards the British. Yet no matter what the subject, throughout each account shines the author's obvious affection for the tribesmen and women with whom he lived and worked for the best part of ten years. The result makes for a fascinating insight into what was, and still remains, a little-known Arabian society.

DOWNLOAD

READ ONLINE
[2.91 MB]

Reviews

This publication could be worthy of a study, and superior to other. it was writtern extremely perfectly and beneficial. I am just easily could possibly get a delight of reading through a published pdf.

-- Prof. Bernie Torphy

I just started off reading this article ebook. It is actually writter in basic words and not confusing. I am just very happy to let you know that this is the best ebook i actually have read through inside my individual daily life and can be he finest ebook for possibly.

-- Dayne Johns