IRELAND ILLUSTRATED: FROM ORIGINAL DRAWINGS (CLASSIC REPRINT)

Forgotten Books. Paperback. Condition: New. 170 pages. Dimensions: 9.0in. x 6.0in. x 0.4in. Excerpt from Ireland Illustrated: From Original Drawings. The Illustrator, unconfined by any definite or preconcerted system, has rambled over subjects without method or restraint - if he has pleased sufficiently, for which he is aware his thanks are to be acknowledged more to the fascinating powers of his coadjutors pencil, than to the efforts of his pen, the chief object of the Illustrations has been obtained. Like the butterfly, he has winged his desultory course through paths of pleasure adorned with a thousand sweets, passing heedlessly over many of nature's fairest flowers, and gathering only from the blossoms of his choice. The earliest topographical writers have invited attention to the singular beauties of Irish scenery. Cambrensis declared, that nature looked with a more favourable eye than usual, upon this kingdom of zephyrs; and authors, more attached to Ireland, and more conspicuous for a love of truth, have asserted, that nature has here denied nothing that is necessary to constitute a great and happy people; and, Tho' form'd to charm, new rapture to inspire, To feed the painters and the poets fire, yet to the present age and period belongs the peculiar merit of having unfolded those charms, and discovered those graces, which the world of taste are now permitted to enjoy. Mankind in general appear to possess an innate love of the beauties of nature, and this passion has been always found to predominate most in warm, susceptible, and cultivated minds; and, perhaps, for this precise reason it is, that such subjects as awaken the powers, and gratify the pleasures, of the imagination, will be both better understood, and more clearly appreciated, in the present period, than in those ages just gone by. It should be observed, that the...
