Condition: New. Publisher/Verlag: LAP Lambert Academic Publishing | Potentiometric Titration using AVR Microcontroller ATmega8L | In the present work, an embedded system is developed to acquire data during potentiometric titration. In this direction, literature review is carried out. Majority of the work was done either using a microprocessor-based systems or PC-based systems. After going through the literature, it is concluded that it is not an efficient idea to lock a PC completely for data acquisition. It is concluded that the...
