Excerpt: . . . say to my soul, Soul, thou hast much goods laid up for many years; take thine ease, eat, drink, and be merry. It is a great mistake to imagine that the great power of wealth is to supply wants; in ninety-nine cases out of a hundred it creates more wants than it supplies. --Anon. The rich man in the Gospel was a bad accountant when he set down a tion, and dream of many years that they are to live: whereas they should be careful to practise subtraction and diminution--to know that every day, nay every hour, every moment, calleth off a part of their lives. --W. Attersol. Oh what bustling is there here for the world, and making provision for futurity, when far less would serve the turn! We need not victual a ship to cross the channel to France, as if she were bound to the Indies. Most mens provisions, at least their cares and thoughts, are far beyond the preparations needful for their abode in this world. --Flavel. false sum to his soul, saying, Thou hast much goods laid up for many years. He sets down years for days; nay, years for hours--like the deceitful tradesman that sets down pounds for shillings. Thus many men that would seem to be cunning in the practice of this faculty, are out of their reckonings, and much deceived. They busy themselves in addition and multiplica 80 But God said unto him, Tlwu fool, this...
