Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from Address Delivered Before the Queens County Agricultural Society, at Its Third Anniversary, at Jamaica, Thursday, October 10th, 1844 Agriculture is truly the parent of all science, uniting men by the bonds of civil society, who, without its aid, would continue to be wandering savages, as we may witness, duly substantiated, upon the frontiers of our country, in the various stages of human life, from the roving Indian, who subsists by the chase, through the first organization of communities, where they throw off the habits of the hunter state, with its precarious means of living, for the certain recompense arising from the culture of the soil, up to the regular farmer, who tills hundreds of acres for the production of grain. This Cause, the paramount importance of agriculture, its effects in humanizing the world, induced the ancients to worship it under the semblance of Ceres, Pomona, etc., to deify the inventors of the plough, and other means of culture, and to represent the enjoyment of rural happiness and pursuits as the perfection of their golden age. This honour and reverence for the parent science we not been confined to particular nations, but has extended over the whole world, wherever the soil has been turned up and prepared for the receipt of the seed, and its attendant blessings have ever been experienced.
