

Globalisation, Policy and Shipping: Fordism, Post-Fordism and the European Union Maritime Sector (Hardback)

By Evangelia Selkou, Michael Roe

Edward Elgar Publishing Ltd, United Kingdom, 2004. Hardback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book. The international shipping industry is the largest logistics provider in the world and is responsible for carrying around 95 of all freight products, including a large proportion of politically sensitive cargoes of crude oil. This book represents the first contemporary analysis of a number of significant and inter-related themes concerning the international shipping industry and its development in the context of increasing globalisation and supra-nationalism. The book concentrates on the issue of shipping policy and the relationships between policymakers and policy-enforcers at different spatial levels - international, supra-national and national. In an increasingly global sector, where ship-owners, cargo-owners, ship registration and crew might all be based in different countries, the authors question the role and authority of national shipping policies and their relevance compared to the growing significance of supra-national bodies such as the European Union. They illustrate this with a detailed case study of EU shipping policy and an analysis of the role of different member states. Models of shipping development and activity are also introduced which provide a useful basis for understanding the industry at the turn of the millennium. In particular,...
