Community, With a Choice Selection From Other Authors. Loathsome as death, is slavery's breath, To every human creature; They shun its blight, they hate its sight, In every form and feature. O then renounce, and c. Fearful as hell, the fatal spell, That slavery spreads around those, Who loiter at all in the man-thiefs hall, Or cease to remember the slaves woes. O then renounce, Wide as the land its bold command, For all to pay it allegiance And few indeed abjure the deed, Or refuse to bow in obedience. O then renounce, and c. The democrat kneels, and the Whig too yields, To slavery as their master; And then unite against the right To crush our liberties faster. O then renounce, and c. The church it claims to sanction its chains, And the priest at the altar serving; And a godless crew its pleasure do, In spite of the true and deserving. O then renounce, and c. D...

Reviews

Extensive information for book fans. It is written in basic words and never hard to understand. It is extremely difficult to leave it before concluding, once you begin to read the book.

-- Otis Wisoky

This publication is great. It is full of wisdom and knowledge. You will not really feel monotony at any time of the time (that's what catalogs are for relating to when you ask me).
