Forgotten Books, United States, 2016. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand . Excerpt from Psychological Monographs, 1947, Vol. 61: Studies in Pilot Selection The Biographical Inventory represents one of the first, if not the first, successful attempt to predict pilot proficiency from biographical data. Also, it should be remembered that biographical data have often been used in informal interviews. Psychiatric examination of candidates for ight training often includes questions dealing with the individual s past history. John son (8) has pointed out that biographical data, if properly used, are extremely valu able in the selection of individuals for aeronautical training. A newly created Civilian key (the Kelly Positive Key) was used in scoring this inventory, and raw scores were used in the computation of statistical results. Reliability coefficients of 525 and 603 have been reported previously for this inventory (2i). Since, in any learning situation the factor of motivation is most important, it seemed desirable to include some meas ure of the student s interest in learning to y. The Desire to Fly Inventory (12) was developed at the University of Rochester, and preliminary work on it has indicated that it has practical...
