Excerpt from Dominion Medical Monthly and Ontario Medical Journal, Vol. 40: January, 1913 His wife had been long dead; his only daughter, married, and bringing up a family of her own in a large city several hundred miles away. He had returned in the early fall after spending the summer with this daughter and her family at their summer home en the St. Lawrence. H is three sons, grown to manhood, were in prominent positions in the Canadian west, hundreds of miles from their father s hearthstone. The eldest, John, was married, and possessed two fine, sturdy boys of eight and ten years. Will and David were still single. When he had gone away in the spring his housekeeper had married a widowed farmer living at the edge of the village. He had not the heart to bring in a stranger. 1 e lived the lonely life of a bachelor. About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books.
