This ebook is worth acquiring. Better then never, though i am quite late in start reading this one. You will not truly feel monotony at at any time of your own time (that's what catalogues are for about if you ask me).

This room was occupied from June 30, 1791, until the next summer, when the books and the museum were taken to new quarters, an attic chamber in the northwest corner of Faneuil Hall. The first meeting was held here on July 31, 1792, at which time the Library contained not far from 225 volumes, and perhaps 500 pamphlets. Of these, as a rough estimate, 75 volumes and many pamphlets have not been identified, and some, doubtless, have been lost. Most of the pamphlets received before July 31, 1792, were bound in 50 volumes, of which now only 40 are known to be in the Library. These volumes were probably added soon after the removal to Faneuil Hall; and before June 11, 1794, about 225 other volumes were received. Of these 25 contain about 200 pamphlets, which had been given to the Library and bound in the latter part of the year 1792, or early in 1793. Up to June 11, 1794, it is estimated that about 1,000 pamphlets had been received, of which perhaps 700 were bound in 75 volumes, as explained above.
