Blinded by Progress is a work of keen observation, a great deal of scholarship and an abiding care for living beings. There were many paths that we might have taken in the past that would have led to a better world than the one we inhabit. Lee Van Hams writing delineates a path going forward that does not repeat the illusions of progress. I hope it opens many eyes. Paul Hawken, entrepreneur, environmentalist, and author of Blessed Unrest and Natural Capitalism Lee has written a book that is a hair-on-fire call to action to free ourselves from our folly of only looking at Me and moving us to We. . . Pronto. Will Marr, Founder, The American Dream Project Turning the pages of Lee Van Hams new narrative nonfiction book, Blinded by Progress, releases that ah-hah feeling we have when truth breaks out of illusion. Blinded by Progress shows why MultiEarth living living as if we have more than one Earth grips us so tightly despite the inevitable apocalyptic consequences of living beyond our planets capacities. It addresses the seemingly simple, yet elusive question, Why do we continue to pursue economic growth as if it is economic health when continued growth is ecologically impossible Are proponents of continued growth sinister or unconscious Do we prefer blind faith to the obvious eyes-open truth The author discloses how he unwittingly came under the spell of MultiEarth living and then, as his consciousness shifted, how he began reshaping his life to OneEarth living a project in process. Readers will follow along with the personal quest of the author, and come to new, life-giving decisions about their own MultiEarth vs. OneEarth choices. Blinded by Progress makes special contributions to the global conversation now underway about...
