Excerpt: . . . 6. The average strength of the Force throughout the year, distinguishing white from black troops, and showing any change in its composition by the removal of one Corps, on the arrival of another; followed by a detail of the deaths, and admission into Hospital. 7. Remarks on the principal classes of diseases by which sickness and mortality have been occasioned; noticing any peculiarity, either as regards the brethren in arms. The quantity and nature of crime can be readily ascertained, as well as the punishments resorted to for its suppression; nor are they unimportant subjects in the consideration of the moral management of Native, as well as European Troops. The Calisthenic exercises of the Asiatics are worthy of adoption, in all European as well as those Native Corps in which they have not been introduced. Mr. Brett speaks highly of their good effects in his recent work on Surgery in India. The first part of this section would obviously fall to the lot of the Superintending Surgeon. It would throw much light upon the effects of the treasure parties, and all kinds of detached duties on the health of the Sepoy. This and the succeeding section require no change. A regular gymnasium, on the plan of those existing in the Prussian Army, and in the Sapeurs Pompiers, or Military Fire Brigade of Paris--might at very little cost be established at large Stations. Its effects on the health of the men, as well as the...
