Liability of Incoming and Retiring Partners. An incoming partner is not liable for the debts of the firm incurred before he became a member, unless he agree to assume such liability.63 A retiring partner is not released from liability for the existing debts of the firm, even though the remaining partners agree to assume all such debts; for no agreement among partners can affect the rights of creditors. But such an agreement will entitle the retiring partner to indemnity from the other partners, in case he is compelled to pay debts. If a partner retire against the will of the others, his liability for existing debts remains unaltered. But, if he withdraw with the assent of the others, the law implies a promise on their part that they will pay the firm s debts to the extent of the firm S...
