If you're from certain parts of Maine and a stranger asks where you're from, or where you're going, Parts North might be the answer you share when you're on the run. Quinton Deane, the ex-con who mostly keeps to himself, has no reason to share too much information with anyone these days. He's a groom in the harness-racing circuit, with his own methods for coaxing sore horses that are just as broken down as he is. When Quinton's boss pulls out of the horse business, Quinton has few choices to pursue for work. Unless scabbing down at the paper mill in rural Nezinscot makes sense for Quinton. Quinton left a family behind in Nezinscot when he went to prison all those years ago, both his ex-wife Celia and his recently grown-up son Newland, and they haven't done much better in the years since. Celia's re-married to a man who doesn't appreciate Newland's former high school athletic skills, especially since Newland lost his arm car-racing in the dark switch-backs in the foothills of the White Mountains. Newland's union is on strike against the mill, and the strikers are as likely to turn on each other as they are against the scabs trying to take their jobs. When Quinton comes back to Nezinscot as a scab, his young son Newland is torn between his loyalty to his union and a deep desire to understand and connect with the father he never knew, especially as Quinton begins to discover new opportunities in Nezinscot to leverage the same criminal skills that...
