PREFACE ++ Some people concentrate on one special field and become successful after a lifetime of hard work. Hilarion M. Henares, Jr, can be said to have been leaping from crag to crag and from peak to peak in many different fields, and has achieved success in each of them incredible for a man of his tender years. He obtained his training at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology where he distinguished himself with a high scholastic record. At the age of 25 he was the youngest Dean of a private graduate school. Before thirty he was the head of an industrial complex making 56 different products and was subsequently elected president of the Philippine Chamber of Industries. He made one movie and it won the coveted award of the best documentary film of the year. He and his family also received the distinction of having been chosen as the year s exemplary family. Henares rightly deserves what Dr. Lilian Gilbreth said of him: the father of Management Revolution in the Philippines. Henares is a writer, and may be considered one of our liberal intellectuals. His passion for nationalism and the widening of the forces and benefits of democracy to improve the lot of our masses he has made the controlling principle in his official acts. Henares confident faith in our people s capacity to rise and fulfill the expectations of Dr. Jose Rizal, if embodied in a political action can, with the support and gathering of a mass movement, inexorably usher him in the center of the historical process. It is often said that the twentieth century is the century of revolutions. But most importantly, the 1960 s...
