This book entertains while providing a glimpse into a utopia 50 years into the future based upon current fact. Experiences of higher states of consciousness by those on the Invincible America Assembly are incorporated into the story (See Invincible America Assembly; Experiences of Higher States of Consciousness of Course Participants http: www. mumpress. combooksother-authorsiaa-v1. html). Current technology already allows electrogravitics, worm holes, and transport portals, and forms the foundation of the technology in use in the story 50 years into the future. For the budding engineer or scientist, the protagonist gives a real overview of mathematics, from addition to calculus and imaginary numbers. And there is a lesson on electronics. But these can be skipped. Also a lesson on monetary system design, just what a kingdom in a lost colony in space needs. Over 140 endnotes are provided for further learning of various topics passed upon in the book. So learn something while you or your kid are being entertained. This item ships from La Vergne, TN.
