GOD AND CAPITALISM (PAPERBACK)

Wipf Stock Publishers, 2016. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book ***** Print on Demand *****. Printed in Partnership with The Center and Library for the Bible and Social Justice Can an economic system receive a response informed by biblical and theological ethics? This collection of five essays, first published in 1991, provides a solid yes to the way prophetic criticism, rooted in the Hebrew tradition of social justice, can assess the state of today s market economy. In strong contrast to the conservative and Religious Right orientations of the 1980s, the writers of this book crack the hegemony of neoconservatives in theology. They also provide strong arguments for what H. Richard Niebuhr called a transformational ethic. Norman Gottwald discusses the rise of the Hebrew prophets and their call for economic justice. William Tabb evaluates contemporary political economies in light of the prophetic tradition. Beverly Harrison develops a prophetic approach to current socio-economic troubles of the middle class. Gregory Baum reviews Catholic perspectives on international economic arrangements and trends. And finally, Dorothee Soelle describes the economic and political implications of the Hebrew concepts of the Sabbath and the Year of the Jubilee. I welcome the reissue of this theological critique, written during the first flush of post-Cold War capitalist triumphalism in the early 1990s. These essays remain relevant for a new generation of faith communities awakening to the challenge of social and economic justice. --Ched Myers, Activist Theologian Justice is at the heart of theological ethics and it can only be measured by the yardstick of the poor, these essays insist. Long after the historical situation described in these essays has changed, this prophetic perspective will endure. --J. Mark Thomas, from the Introduction Vernon Visick was a campus minister at the University of Wisconsin-Madison and Director of New...
