By Patti Gray-Pickering

Createspace Independent Publishing Platform, United States, 2009. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book ***** Print on Demand *****.This book is a compilation of the issues and fears that I worked through following my diagnosis of metastatic breast cancer throughout my chemotherapy treatment. I hope that it will help someone else to understand what they are likely to encounter as they face mortality and slay their own dragons. VicsterW says, This was an excellent book for all women and especially those of us who have fought breast cancer. The author captures the emotion and portrays an honest realization of what it feels like to have the diagnosis. It was nice to realize that someone else shared my same thoughts and fears. She adds some humor, which we all have shared to get through this disease. I give it 5 stars and highly suggest it for all women. God bless you Patti.I will pray for you.
