These are the cornerstones of a dedicated relationship between a teacher and a student. In this case, the teacher was Thomas Troward of Cornwall England and the student was Genevieve Behrend.Not long after her time with Troward, Behrend began her mission in New York City where she established and headed The School of the Builders up until 1925. She then established another school in Los Angeles before touring other major cities throughout North America for the next 35 years as a celebrated lecturer, teacher, and practitioner of Mental Science.
