

The Archaean: Geological and Geochemical Windows into the Early Earth (Modern Approaches in Solid Earth Sciences)

By Glikson, Andrew Y.

Springer, 2014. Book Condition: New. Brand New, Unread Copy in Perfect Condition. A+ Customer Service! Summary: Review comments: "This book deals with the very first third of our planet's long history covering all the major episodes as deciphered from the scattered rocks in all four corners of the Earth. Written by Andrew Glikson - a passionate sleuth of all earth sciences involving decades of field and laboratory investigations - has produced a grand modern overview of the Hadean and Archaean Earth." . Professor Victor Gostin, University of Adelaide . "This book is a welcome and refreshing addition to the literature of Archaean geology. It provides pithy and up to date information on the great Archaean terrains and presents a scheme of evolution of the early crust, from mafic-ultramafic crust to tonalite-trondjemitegreenstone crust to greenstone-granite and high-grade metamorphic crust." . Professor Hugh Davies, University of New Guinea . "The manuscript written by Dr. A. Glikson is concerned with the early history of the Earth and the applicability of the uniformitarian doctrine for its interpretation, that is, an essential question for modern geological science. Extensive analytical data accumulated over the last few decades of regarding the structure and composition of the..."
