Excerpt from Alabama Girls Technical Institute Bulletin, Vol. 32: Catalog 1917-18 The Home Economics Conference which was held at the Alabama Girls Technical Institute, Montealloy, January 28-30, 1915, was called for the purpose of considering the subject of Home Economics in general with special reference to the work in this state. Invitations were sent to teachers of Home Economics movement. The result was a most interesting and profitable meeting. The program was carried as printed below. The round table discussions were especially helpful and interesting and manifested an earnest desire for better work. The reports of the work being done in Alabama, Mississippi and Florida, and the discussions of rural schools were not only interesting but were very suggestive and indicated lines which we need to pursue in carrying the work forward. Everyone was interested in the work that is being done in Chilton county through the trained nurse and community organization, as reported by Mrs. Marshall and Mr. Moran. The evening addresses gave a broad view of the possibilities in the study of Home Economics and of its practical and cultural value....
