Createspace Independent Publishing Platform, United States, 2015. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .The first gift Amber received in her first birthday was a dream catcher. Her father hanged that dream catcher in the window of her room so that whenever there was a wind, she would hear the melody that helped her to sleep and that brings her the best dreams ever. He wanted to give her a perfect life with her mother and family. Everything fell apart in just one instance and Amber found herself saying a final good bye to her family when the tunnel collapsed on their car on her birthday leaving her in a deep sorrow and agony. It was shocking for her to see her father s face covered with blood and her birthday turned out to be a funeral. Therefore, she transformed from a girl who loved to laugh and to play to a melancholic person who smelled death wherever she went. The only person left was a little sister who needed a heart transplantation as soon as possible but the troubles were following Amber wherever she went even on high ways when her love to save an innocent kangaroo led her to hit a very expensive car on the road back home and the worst started happening when that person forced her to sign a check with one million dollars for the expenses of the damage she caused to his car. And because of that person she couldn t pick up the phone and say a final word to her father before his death. Yet, sometimes it happens that when we think that all the doors are shut in front of us, other doors were open, and the door of love was wide open in...
