Milne s Winnie-the-Pooh into Cebuano and Visayan by Alma Macalandag Duavis-Vigonte Winnie-the-Pooh is the most popular children s book in the world. Cebuano and Visayan are languages read and spoken by an estimated 21 million people in the Philippines. One of Magellan s seamen, Antonio Pigafetta, jotted down words in the Cebuano Language. During the expedition, Pigafetta served as Magellan s assistant and kept an accurate journal which later assisted him in translating Cebuano. It is the first recorded document concerning the Cebuano language. Cebuano is spoken on the province of Cebu, Bohol, Siquijor, Negros Oriental, northeastern Negros Occidental, southern Masbate, many portions of Leyte, Biliran, parts of Samar, and most parts of Mindanao, the second largest island of the Philippines. Furthermore, a large portion of the urban population of Zamboanga, Davao and Cotabato is Cebuano speaking. Some dialects of Cebuano have different names for the language. Ethnic groups of Cebuano speakers from Cebu are mainly called Cebuano, Cebuano speakers from Bohol are Boholano/Bol-anon, while Cebuano speakers in Leyte identify their dialect as...
