Not illustrated. 1917 Excerpt: .in the show ring, then the show ring would be of untold value to the breed. The only thing determined by the show ring, however, is beauty of form, and generally it is one man s judgment that places the animals in the ring. If he is a man who considers dairy ability in the animals there is a lesson to be learned, but how often do we see this? In this connection, however, an experience is cited by George T. Slade of Minn., which would seem to disprove the theory that dairy cattle should be judged in the light of cold figures of the authenticated test and not placed in the show ring on form. Mr. Slade says: At the first fair at which I ever exhibited, I bought a heifer, largely on form, which had won first place in her classes for two years, and came from a producing family. She had not been tested, and had, during her first lactation period, made no unusual yields. She has since been a consistent winner in the ring, is the largest producing cow I have ever owned and her sons and daughters and grandsons and granddaughters are also winners and producers. Show cows which have made their mark as producers are so usual that it is impossible to escape the conviction that our standard of perfection or show yard ideal as interpreted by the judges is keeping pace with the development of the producing function of the...
