Privacy Standards: Issues in HHS Proposed Rule on Confidentiality of Personal Health Information of claims and coverage decisions, but ultimately affect the quality and cost of care for health care consumers. On the other hand, nine commenters suggested that HHS expand the scope of the regulations to cover more of the entities that use, disclose, generate, maintain, or receive protected health information, however defined. For example, the Workgroup on Electronic Data Interchange wrote that all entities involved in electronic exchange of individually identifiable health information should be included in the rule as health care clearinghouses. Some respondents specifically remarked that the definition of health plan needed to be broadened so that the same rules apply to other types of insurers, such as life, disability, workerscompensation, automobile, and property-casualty insurers. According to the National Association of Insurance Commissioners, in creating their Health Information Privacy Model Act, they concluded it was illogical to apply one set of rules to health insurance carriers but...
