2000. Hardcover. Book Condition: New. 222 Bill Gates of Microsoft identified tourism as one of the three major industries of the future. With the projected arrival of 1.6 billion tourists by 2020 generating tourist receipt of US $ 2000 billion, creating one job every 2.5 seconds, tourism, today, has emerged as one of biggest industries of the future. India offers, as is often said, the World in one place-with tremendous variety that provides everyone. What is the present scenario of tourism development in India? What is Indias position in the global scenario? How is India prepared to participate in the great tourism boom of the 21st century? The book "INDIAN TOURISM BEYOND THE MILLENNIUM" by a person, who has an inside view of the development of tourism in India, delves into these and many other pertinent questions. As India prepares to enter the new millennium, the book traces the history of tourism development in India, the constraints that limit its growth and the issues that may fashion the future. Replete with valuable statistical information, its incisive insight into the emerging trends, couple with commonsense prescription for the future, makes the book a must read for policy planners, researchers, students and the general public alike. The book takes us through the global scenario, the progress of Indian tourism as unfolded in the 50 years since Independence, the specific issues of ecology and sustainable development with reference to fragile areas like Ladakh an North-East India, the importance of public private partnership-in fact a kaleidoscope of all that you wanted to know about India tourism. About The Author:- Madan Prasad Bezbaruah, born on 1st December 1941 at Guwahati (Assam) is retired IAS officer of 1964 batch of the Assam Meghalaya cadre. During his service career he held many important assignments both in the...
