RareBooksClub. Paperback. Book Condition: New. This item is printed on demand. Paperback. 130 pages. Original publisher: Research Triangle Park, NC : U. S. Environmental Protection Agency, Office of Air Quality Planning and Standards, 2001. OCLC Number: (OCoLC)48064858 Subject: Air -- Analysis. Excerpt: . . . The sampler to sampler consistency flags were based on comparing the difference between the high and low value for co-located measurements of a parameter (including FRM mass). For each site these differences might all be very small or large with considerable variation. The flags indicate the extremes for the site. Hence, a difference that was flagged at one site may not be flagged at another. The flags were combined into an alphanumeric code that indicated which parameter (s) caused the flag. As in the above, if a flag was generated, then all the associated data for that day was flagged. After the RTI flagged data was removed, there were 45 out of 1, 072 site-day combinations with data that were flagged with discrepancies in at least two species. In most of the modeling analyses the modeling was done both with and without the flagged data. Some modeling was also done with...
