Ross, State Superintendent of Public Instruction; December, 1914 In a general way the development of free schools has been everywhere coincident with the growth of democracy. Here in America as elsewhere public education has been an evolution. Pioneer conditions with us have always meant first, homes and a living; then, churches and schools. In Kansas around the cabin and the dugout on the far horizon, was erected the local school district, and there followed the box car schoolhouse as representing the simplest and cheapest form of architecture. Other settlers came and other districts were formed, irregular in shape, unequal in size, and varying in valuation, but always with the one oblong, cross-lighted type of building. The sod house and the ox team have vanished with the Indian and the buffalo. In their place are coming, in numbers unequalled anywhere else in the world, the modern farm home and the automobile. But the rural school of the pioneer lingers with us...
