Chapleau on the Motion Made, Before the House of Commons, on the 11th March, 1886, to Blame the Government for Having Allowed the Execution of Louis Riel: From the Official Debates; House of Commons, March 24th, 1886 We all remember the feeling that pervaded this House when, on the 22nd, 23rd and 24th of March, the news arrived that really a rebellion was existing in the North - West, and that the agitation which had begun many months before had taken the form of an open revolt. We remember the feeling that existed in this House. It is true that then, as since the beginning of this Session, some gentlemen on the other side, exercising their rights as members of Parliament, had been asking for information, had been clamoring for papers, but still the House went on with the performance of its duties until the day we heard the sound of rebellion, and learned that the sons of Canada, at the call of the Government, had to go up and fight that revolt. Sir, when the news of the Duck Lake fight arrived, there was not one man to be found here who would not have said frankly and openly that those who had commenced that rebellion, those men who were ignoring the laws of the country and rebelling against them, were deserving the severest punishment of the law. I remember a few days later, when a newspaper in Ontario had had the audacity, as it was then styled, to say that my honorable friend sitting on our left had been actually giving countenance to the rebellion, that he had been aiding...
