Excerpt from The Emigrants Guide to the United States of America: Containing Introductory Remarks; Correspondence From Working Men Who Have Emigrated; Farmers Life and Circumstances; Climate; Health; Dispositions and Manners of the People; Manufacture; Trade and Commerce, Agriculture; Animals, C As instances of favourable symptoms to the doing well for a poor man, we find it admitted on all hands that land is plentiful, that there are millions of acres uncultivated and unoccupied, and that it is sold by the government at a very low price - only one and a quarter dollar (about 55. 3d. English money) per acre, freehold of inheritance to the purchaser and his posterity for ever! With regard to the prices of stock, we would merely Observe, that a good milch cow, with a calf by her side, can be had at from 2. To 3. Horses from 6. To 12. Breeding sows from, 65. To sheep about the same price. Fowls from 33. To 43. Per dozen, and working men. Being ever scarce, and, as it appears, not the less scarce for many going, because every one aims to be his own employer, and rather makes employment for others, than takes it out of the market wages are good, and kept good, and no worse (as is the case here) for provisions being cheap. Thus it is that a poor man is enabled to get up in life there rather than down, as is every where the case in drained and exhausted England. As a practical illustration of the success working men are meeting with in the western states Of America, we give an extract of a letter from a person of the name of Edward Gabbott, who...
