

Death and the Afterlife (Life on Other Worlds Series)

By Andrew Jackson Davis

Square Circles Publishing. Paperback. Condition: New. 164 pages. Dimensions: 9.0in. x 6.0in. x 0.4in. First published in 1865, Death and the Afterlife contains eight evening lectures given by Davis. He begins with the phenomenon of death and goes on to describe the conditions of life and society in the Summerland (also called the Spirit-land) and its seven planes. He also brings through a voice a James Victor Wilson who gives an account of his ten years experience in Summerland. In this edition footnotes have been added to clarify some of the names and places mentioned, which were familiar to readers in 1865 but are not so today. Known as the Seer of Poughkeepsie and the Father of Spiritualism, Andrew Jackson Davis (1826-1910) was born in the small town of Blooming Grove, New York, the son of an alcoholic father and an illiterate, strongly religious mother. He had little education. The family moved to Poughkeepsie when Davis was twelve, and soon afterward he began experimenting with hypnotism. He discovered, in his trances, that he was a seer: divine truths and the laws of the universe were revealed to him. He could see the future development of astronomy, physics, chemistry, medicine, philosophy, psychology, education and...
