By Helena Maeve

Pride Publishing. Paperback. Condition: New. 248 pages. Dimensions: 8.0in. x 5.2in. x 0.6in. Counterfeit Conscience On the brink of retirement, a spy will risk all. The writings on the wall. Will Rowe has no illusions about retaining his post as the head of the largest Section field office in South America. Private contractors, some more lawful than others, already see to most of their interests. Its only a matter of time before Will himself is made redundant. Hed like to think hes made peace with the inevitable, but when a figure from his past offers one last chance to make a difference, Will cant resist. Caught between his duty to the agency and his commitment to protect his operatives, Will must persuade the man who nearly wrecked his career to give up the one and only constant in his worldrevenge. Ignacio was a low-grade runner for the infamous Macias cartel the last time he and Will spoke. Now he is the head of the family and a direct beneficiary of MI6 cost-cutting measures. Will knows that approaching such a man without his superiors knowledge or approval is a perilous undertaking, but he doesnt expect his body and heart to become forfeit. As...
