Excerpt from Branch of Research: Monthly Report of Forest Experiment Stations, Forest Products, Forest Economics, Range Research; September, 1931 On the return trip from West Virginia our party spent a day with the Maryland District Forester, Mr. Buckingham. Narvland has been buying land for state forests in that section of the State, and in addition to some of these lands, the party saw an excellent example of good silviculture in a further east, in Somerset County, Pennsylvania, the station men paid a visit to the property of the Wilmore Real Estate Company, surface holder for the Berwind-White Coal Mining Company. The total property of acres is being handled on a most intelligent basis; the acres of farm land are being rented for cash or on shares, and as soon as any land fails to pay its way for agricultural use it is planted with forest trees. However, the plantations of the Company, some of them very interesting, are by no means as significant as the acres of land in natural forest. The Company's policy with respect to standing timber is to...
