There is a wonderful agreement in the Spirit of your writings: and the manner of your treating the author of a piece, call d, A comment upon the Reverend Mr. Warburton s Alliance, greatly resembles Mr. W - s treatment of his answerers. This may be seen in your conclusion, which is, - For I should think my time strangely misemploy d, and the Reader s patience as much abused, to take the least notice of a thing called a Commentary on the Book of Alliance; in which the nameless Writer has not only proclaimed his profound ignorance of the principles of that Book, (a case pretty general amongst answerers) but of all others principles whatsoever, even those of his own trade, which is calumny. If you insist upon the greater propriety of the term, commentary, than that of comment, I will not dispute it with you.
