Book Description Between Friends is a unique contemporary correspondence between two women determined to age ungracefully--an unplugged! --in an email and virtuality-besotted world. In this low-fi pen-to-paper conversation, they discuss feminism, politics, current events and family issues, lending the reader an intimate glimpse of what it means to be alive today, what it means to grow and grow old, what it means to be a woman and--most important--what it means to be a true friend. About the Author Oonagh Berry's short stories have been published in Canada and Ireland. She grew up in Ireland and now lives in Ottawa with her husband, poet Christopher Levenson, and is actively involved in the local writers' community. Helen Levine is a former social worker and professor. At the School of Social Work at Carleton University, she introduced women's issues and feminist perspe.
