Popular government without popular education is but a prologue to a farce or to a tragedy, or to both. - James Madison. In our country and in our time no man is worthy the honored name of statesman who does not include the highest practicable education of the people in all his plans of administration. He may have eloquence, he may have knowledge of all history, diplomacy, jurisprudence; and by these he might claim in other countries the elevated rank of a statesman; but unless he speaks, plans, labors at all times and in all places for the culture and edification of the whole people, he is not, he can not be an American statesman. - Horace Mann. If we work upon marble, it will perish; if we work upon brass, time will efface it; if we rear temples, they will crumble to the dust;...
