By G Campbell Morgan

Forgotten Books, 2017. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book ***** Print on Demand *****. Excerpt from Wherin Have We Robbed Malachi s Message to the Men of Today The finest literature the world has produced, apart from the literature of the Bible, while it will remain interesting for long years - even though the conditions of the age to which it appealed may have changed - will not have a living and practical application to any age save that in which it was penned. The writings of Chaucer are of absorbing interest to English men to-day, because they reveal to us the age in which they were produced, but they have no vital message to the men of today. In that particular, this whole Book of God is in entire contrast to all other writings. All Scripture written aforetime had a local application, and a distinctive message to the times in which it was written, but it was writ ten also for our learning.
